- What happened during 100 years of Waldorf education with the original founding principles? Get the picture of the developments between 1919 - 2018. A perfect preparation for the coming worldwide celebration of 100 years Waldorf education.
- Super interesting talks by experienced Waldorf teacher Valentin Wember about how to check where you can grow as a teacher or as a school in providing value for young children. One lecture on Saturday November 10, and one on Friday 9 November. The lectures are in English, with also Dutch translation available.
- Valentin Wember explains the basic five foundations of Waldorf education. Many German, English, American and other teachers indicated that his structure is very helpful in determining where they or their school stands in their professionalism and ability to provide support to healthy individuals. And being a free individual is easier when you have a richer image of your own reality.
- Even when you have been a Waldorf teacher all your life, you most likely don't know all the fundamental ideas behind Waldorf education. How did it start in 1919, and how do we see Waldorf education in 2018? And what is 'at the core' and what are 'bells and whistles'?
- Valentin Wember's book 'The five Dimensions of Waldorf Education in the work of Rudolf Steiner' has now been translated into Dutch ('Het bouwwerk van de Waldorf-pedagogie'). Visitors receive the Dutch translation of his book. This book is also available in bookstores from November 9 2018 (price: 20 euro).

Exchange experiences with colleagues, parents and students during the workshops and 'in between'. Get new ideas, and enjoy the free soup and the animated atmosphere.

Can't you make it on November 10 November 2018? Well, come visit the public lecture of Valentin Wember on Friday evening November 9 in Amsterdam.
